報表 正月一九七四年

The fiction of the isolated ego or person as the real individual has been implanted to stimulate the feeling of creatureliness & the fear of God. It is likewise advantageous to rulers that the people be blind to the polarity of life & death, & so fear death if they fear not God. But when those who implant this fiction are themselves its dupes, they seek for themselves as persons the powers which they already enjoy as God, but have forgotten. In this endeavor they resort to such crude wisdom as may be expressed in linear signs, words & numbers for the government of a non-linear & immeasurably subtle world. ... Consequently, all the balances & interdependencies of nature are thrown into confusion — to the bewilderment of birds, beasts & plants, and the befuddlement of man's own non-linear body & brain.

11:00 CARROTS AND STICKS: A HISTORY OF THE UNITED STATES IN THE TWENTIETH CENTURY. In the first half of the twentieth century, the United States emerged as the world's leading industrial, political and military power. American ascendancy was established with some difficulty and at substantial cost. Our course will examine the past to pre-eminence. We shall explore the sources of national strength as well as the elements of instability. The American triumph was accompanied by repeated challenges—from disaffected farmers, labor, ethnic and racial groups; from recurrent economic crises; from peoples and governments of foreign nations. We will discuss these challenges and the way the system managed them. Within this framework we will consider the crucial personalities and events from labor violence of the late 19th century through the reforms under Theodore Roosevelt and Woodrow Wilson; from the Crash and Depression of Franklin Roosevelts era through the Cold War and on to Watergate. This is a course about American adaptation in the 20th Century—about the flexibility of our society and the inflexibility, about the concessions that were made and the repression that supplemented them, about periods of international concilation and the wars that succeded them. We will end with the present, seeking to connect contemporary strains with the ambiquity of our historical development. Listeners are invited to discuss, to question, to argue, and to read along with us. Booklists and course outlines are available. (Mondays and Fridays at 11:00 PM)

Sunday

Thursday
January 24

9:15 THE DIARY OF NIJINSKY. 1918: Vaslav Nijinsky begins one of the most disturbing diaries of our time. 1919: Nijinsky is committed to a sanitarium in Zurich. Diagnosis: Acute Schizophrenia. At 29 years old, Vaslav Nijinsky, hailed as the greatest male ballet on three continents fades painfully from reality, accompanied only by his pen and the god who speaks to him. A moving document. Dramatized and set to music of the Diagilev era. Produced by Jeffrey Shaw. Technical production by David Rapkin.

At the moment, WBAI is going through a series of changes. We are in the process of re-evaluating all programming. Since our Folio is put together a month ahead of time, there may be small or great changes in these program listings before January comes around. We apologize for any inaccuracies in the listings and expect that, very shortly the WBAI Folio will become as reliable as our resources permit.
